State Department officials to-day while State Department officials to-day while acknowledging receipt of the Japanese note relative to Yap were unwilling to make any comments or to disclose its character. It is understood, however, that it is couched in much more suave language than the one addressed in reply to the communication of former Secretary of State Colby and acknowledges that Secretary Hughes's note raises questions which must be examined. It is understood also that suggestions for the internationalization of Yap can be beat considered by continued negotiation between the United States and Japan. This is regarded as a preliminary step to having the entire question that the mandate question be reconsidered.

It is now well established that the governments of Great Britain and Japan, have been reacting to objections registered by the British dominions through Premiers Smuts and Hughes to the inclusion of any feature in the proposed aliance which might appear to threaten the United States. The continued presence of Japanese troops in Siberia and retention of Shantung, it has been urged on the British Government, could not do otherwise than make the American public suspicious of the proposed aliance.

the first opportunity gave the ship news reporters a great deal of very inside information about the private life of Mr. Charles Hapsburg of Switzerland, formerly the Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary. Mr. Urban, who said he was at one time personal chef, or cook, "You'd never know he was an Emperor." said Mr. Urban. "Sometimes I felt almost like calling him Charley. But I never did." Mr. Urban was accompanied by his family, two suit cases, a book of recipes for Mr. Hapsburg when the latter was a monarch, accompanied his information with the statement that Mr. Hapsburg felt more like eating good dishes than he does now, and a skillet in which Mr. Urban used to fry flap-jacks and eggs in the royal kitchens in Vienna.

This skillet was an object of extreme interest to the ship news reporters, and sort of person.

It seems, according to Mr. Urban, that Mr. Hapsburg was at that time very fond of good things to eat and had little else to think about. He therefore spent a great deal of his time prowling about the royal kitchens, lifting the covers of the royal pots and pans and sniffing the royal soup and goulash. He developed a habit, very annoying to Mr. Urban, of dropping into the royal kitchen and asking what the royal palate would be tickled with on that royal evening at dinner. Mr. Urban said he would make some respectful rejoinder to this pleas-

Are You Fit at Fifty?

As you dream of boy-hood activities, are you satisfied with your physical self of today. Some folks, you know, are old at forty: others young at sixty. One's age is not so much a matter of years as it is a condition of the body.

Many physicians and scientific men say that the average life could be increased in usefulness by a number of years if we drank nothing but absolutely pure water.

The purest natural water reported by the S. Government is Paradise Water, with less than one grain of solid matter in a gallon of 58,372 grains! Unlike ordinary water, it does not bring either germs or insoluble mineral impurities into human system, flushing them out! Because of this cleansing and purifying effect, the continued use of Paradise

Water promotes the proper functioning of the kidneys, which in turn produces a healthier condition of the arteries and heart. Paradise, therefore, by tending to ward off hardening of the arteries, is especially beneficial for people past middle life. It will indeed keep you fit at fifty!
